

ABOUT ME

My vocation is divided between architecture and teaching. Currently I work in the education field combining it with interior design projects.

But being aware that technologies evolve in response to the needs, I have been updating myself about programs that are the very near future, the BIM programs.

Due to my Erasmus experience and my period working abroad I consider myself a flexible person and able to adapt to different environments.

I am an entrepreneur person as I started my own business, completely detached from the architecture, and linked to the collaborative consumption and marketing online: mapunto.cat.

Even if I have not always succeed all these experiences allowed me to learn, improve and start new projects without fear to new challenges.
